Two more Chancellor's Circle awards! – Last Friday, two College of Health Professions programs received awards by the Chancellor's Circle totaling $75,000. The Department of Physical Therapy was given an award of $25,000 in support of its continuing development. The certificate was given by Lewis Epley, UAMS Foundation Fund Board member and ardent support of the physical therapy program, and was received by Peter Kohler, vice chancellor for UAMS Northwest, and Douglas Murphy, dean of the College of Health Professions. This is the second Chancellor's Circle award for Physical Therapy; the first was given in 2014. Congratulations to John Jefferson and the Physical Therapy faculty and staff!

Congratulations are in order, too, to the faculty and staff of the Center for Dental Education, which was granted an award in the amount of $50,000 to equip an additional dental treatment room. The fully-equipped treatment room will bring the total number of treatment rooms to 11 in the Delta Dental Foundation of Arkansas Oral Health Clinic. The award certificate was received by Bill Slagle, director of the Center for Dental Education, and Douglas Murphy, dean. The center received a Chancellor's Circle award in 2014, as well.

The College of Health Professions is fortunate to have been granted two of the 11 Chancellor's Circle awards this year. These awardees were selected from among 55 requests that were submitted for funding. For more information about the Chancellor's Circle, click here.
