Physician Assistant student chosen for national scholarship

– Congratulations to Erica Williams, 2nd year student in the Master of Physician Assistant Studies program, who was selected for a Scholarship of Excellence by the Association of Schools of Allied Health Professions (ASAHP). Erica is one of only 11 students nationwide and one of only 2 physician assistant students to receive the 2017 scholarship. For a list of all scholarship recipients click here.

The ASAHP Scholarship of Excellence was established to recognize outstanding student in allied health programs who achieve excellence in their academic pursuits and have significant potential to assume future leadership roles in allied health. Erica was selected because she epitomizes the following qualities: academic achievement, service to her school and the community, leadership, diversity in activities, and evidence of strong communication skills.

ASAHP is the national organization for schools of allied health professions such as the UAMS College of Health Professions. It was established in 1967 as a not-for-profit national professional association for administrators, educators, and others who were concerned with critical issue affecting allied health education. ASAHP's membership consists of 116 academic institutions and four professional associations. For more information, click here.
