The dean’s office will conduct a survey of our alumni in 2016-2017 to assess attitudes and perceptions of their student experience. Departments may be asked to assist with updating contact information (email, address, etc.). More information will be forthcoming. 8:35	II. 2015-2016 Budget and Use of Laboratory Fees	Bill Woodell	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Several programs have been underspending their laboratory fee budget by 5% or more (see attachment). Accounts and expenditures will need to be closely monitored (admins should know how to access laboratory fee budget amounts), and must be spent for students’ use in the program (supplies, consumables, scrubs, etc.). Spending from reserves is by exception. Laboratory charges: a) Bill will request that the Clinical Skills Laboratory clarify their charges. b) No charge for the Simulation Laboratory unless you use standardized patients. If the fee for your program needs to be changed, the change form can be found is on the website at http://healthprofessions.uams.edu/faculty-and-staff/forms/.
	III. Degree Time Limits – Discussion	Douglas Murphy	The anticipated time to earn a degree is given to the registrar and is important for financial aid eligibility. Some of our students have had “in progress” status for 3-5 years. We need a policy with degree time limits for each program. Since degree plans have time limits, degree time limits could be tied into the plan. The student can petition for a new degree plan if it expires, but the new plan is subject to changes in requirements. Adjustment would be made for students on a part-time track. We’ll be collecting degree plan expiration dates, will look at in more depth including concerns, legal ramifications, etc. When our students graduate, their degree, knowledge, and skills need to be current.

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS SYSTEM

Office of the General Counsel

MEMORANDUM

TO: Chancellors, Division and Unit Heads

FROM: Fred H. Harrison, General Counsel

DATE: August 30, 2016

RE: Political Activity

As we move toward statewide elections this fall, this memo serves as a reminder regarding political activity of university employees. A.C.A. § 7-1-103(a)(3)(A) states that it is unlawful for a public servant “to use any office or room furnished at public expense to distribute any letters, circulars, or other campaign materials unless such office or room is regularly used by members of the public for such purposes without regard to political affiliation.” This section further restricts the use of “any item of personal property provided with public funds” for campaign purposes. “Campaign materials” and “campaign purposes” refers to the campaign of a candidate for public office, as well as efforts to support or oppose a ballot measure, excepting those activities allowed under A.C.A. 7-1-111 [Act 312 of 2013].

Act 312 of 2013 made it “unlawful for a public servant or a governmental body to expend or permit the expenditure of public funds to support or oppose a ballot measure.” “Public servant” is defined to include individuals employed by or appointed to serve a governmental body, which includes employees of the University of Arkansas System. The law defines public funds to include funds or other assets, including real or personal property, belonging to, held by, or passed through a governmental body. A violation of the law is a Class A misdemeanor, and individuals found to have acted contrary to the law are to be removed from employment and no longer eligible for employment or appointment in a governmental body.

Act 312 does not prohibit the freedom of speech of public servants to express views related to a ballot measure or prohibit a governmental body from expressing an opinion regarding a ballot measure. It also does not restrict the “incidental use of state resources by a public servant” when speaking on a ballot measure “within the scope of the official duties and responsibilities of the public servant.” Nor does it prohibit the dissemination of public information or the incidental use of state resources in preparing or analyzing public information “if the subject matter of the public information is within the scope of the official duties and responsibilities of the public servant.”

The University of Arkansas is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution.

In addition to Arkansas law, Board of Trustees Policy 465.1 provides restrictions related to political activity of university employees. The policy states that university employees have the right, as citizens, to engage in political activity and notes that employees speaking on matters of public interest "should make every effort to make it clear that the employees comments or opinions are those of the employee and not the university." The policy also prohibits the use of the "institution's name, symbol, property, or supplies in political activities" and provides instructions for employees to discuss plans to seek public office or assume a major role in a political campaign with their supervisor. Depending on the extent of the political activity, a supervisor may determine that it will limit "the full discharge of the employee's responsibilities to the University" and require a work-load or compensation adjustment or a leave-of-absence or resignation. Plans regarding political activity of employees should be reviewed through the Chancellor or chief executive officer of each campus or unit in consultation with the General Counsel's Office.

While this memo is meant to highlight certain legal and administrative provisions related to political activity of university employees, it does not cover the entirety of Arkansas law regarding political activity of state employees. For further guidance, please refer to the attachments including A.C.A. § 7-1-103, Act 312 of 2013 and Board of Trustees Policy 465.1.

POLITICAL ACTIVITY

University employees, as citizens, have the right to engage in political activity. However, no employee may involve the institution's name, symbols, property, or supplies in political activities. If employees speak publicly on matters of public interest and are identified by their name and position with the University, they should make every effort to make it clear that the employee's comments or opinions are those of the employee and not the University.

Any employee who intends to seek public office or to assume a major role in a political campaign is obligated to discuss his/her plans with his/her supervisor. If the supervisor determines that the activity will impinge to any extent upon the full discharge of the employee's responsibilities to the University, including, but not limited to, any actual or perceived conflict of interest, the plans shall be reviewed through regular administrative channels to the Chancellor or chief executive officer for each campus, division or unit, after consultation with the General Counsel's Office, for a determination of work-load and salary adjustment. Such determination shall be reported to and subject to review by the President.

Activities which require part- or full-time services, and for which more than token compensation is received, will require a reduction of work-load and pay, leave-of-absence, or resignation, depending upon the extent of the activity.

In engaging in political activities, employees shall abide by applicable law. This shall include, without limitation:

- not devoting any time or labor during usual office hours toward the campaign of any candidate for office or for the nomination to any office including the gathering of signatures for a nominating petition;
- not circulating an initiative or referendum petition or soliciting signatures on any initiative or referendum petition in any public office or during the usual office hours of the University or while on duty for the University;
- not coercing, by threats or otherwise, any public employee into devoting time or labor towards the campaign of any candidate for office or for the nomination to any office;
- not using any office or room furnished at public expense to distribute any letters, circulars or other campaign materials unless such office or room is regularly used by members of the public for such purposes without regard to political affiliation;
- not to use for campaign purposes any item of personal property provided with public funds; "campaign materials" and "campaign purposes" refer to the campaign of a candidate for public office and efforts to support or oppose a ballot measure, except as provided in Ark Code Ann 7-1-111;

- not to assess any public employee for any political purpose whatever or to coerce, by threats or otherwise, any public employee into making a subscription or contribution for any political purpose;
- not to place any campaign banners, campaign signs, or other campaign literature on any cars, trucks, tractors or other vehicles belonging the University.

Any approved political activities of an employee must be taken on personal time by taking annual leave with approval of the employee's supervisor.

Nothing in this policy shall prohibit the Board from engaging in government speech, provided, that the expenditure of public funds to support or oppose a ballot measure is prohibited except as permitted by Ark Code Ann. 7-1-111(c).
