

Physical Therapy

Liz Garcia received an Education Innovation Grant from the Office of Educational Development. This grant will fund expansion of a pilot project to teach ethics and moral reasoning via an interactive digital story telling game.

Liz has also been nominated for a position on the Item Writing Task Force for the Federation of State Boards of Physical Therapy. The position would involve generation of questions for the new version of the National Physical Therapy Examination board exam.

The UAMS Translational Research Institute held the first ever summer writing challenge. The 91-day challenge was for past and present TRI-supported researchers to submit manuscripts over the summer. Jennifer Vincenzo was awarded the Wise Wordsmith Award. This award is for the most publications for the rank of associate professor--Jennifer has eight publications (two primary authorships and six co-authorships). Congratulations, Jennifer!

Source: CHP First Thursday Newsletter – October, 2021

